Napoleon Bonaparte.

Napoleon, Madame Ramusat tells us, could not speak good French, nor pronounce his words well. He had no graces of manner. He did not know how to come into a room, nor how to take his seat, or how to speak to a lady. He could not bear the trouble of dressing himself carefully, nor of allowing others to dress him. He would poke the fire with his feet, and scatter the ashes over the room. In his passion with Josephine, when she had so much reason to be jealous and was indiscreet enough to reproach him, he would break the furniture of the room to pieces. He was ravenous at his meals, having all the dishes on the table at once, and partaking of one dish after another without observing the order of the courses. He could not dance, except very badly, and in ballrooms or drawing-rooms he would pull people about and make remarks on toilettes which brought the color into the cheeks of the ladies to whom he spoke.

In the days of his imperial magnificence, when the court had to proceed in state from one part of the palace to another, he would walk so fast as to destroy all the decency of the procession, making the ladies and great officers shuffle along in their grand dresses and trains, as if they were escaping from a fire.

Talleyrand once said to him that good taste was his mortal enemy, and that if he could have destroyed it by cannon it would long ago have ceased to exist. He was dirty in his habits, as his clothes bore witness. We have already mentioned that he played chess without regarding the rules of the game. Once he must needs drive a "wagonet," four in hand, himself, and, with his usual clumsiness, he drove violently against a gate-post, and put the Empress and others under his charge in some peril. He liked to ride at full speed down a steep hill, regardless of the nerves of those who had to follow him.

But there were worse forms sometimes taken by his headstrong wilfullness. He had a snobbish delight in making mischief, in repeating to you what some one else had said—or not said—against you in confidence. He would go about in his masked balls and insinuate to husbands to suspect their wives, and then he was angry if any disturbance ensued. If he was challenged himself he would immediately show who he was and would allow no liberty. He would sometimes boast of those so-called "successes" which even the most profligate gentlemen never reveal. It was his plan to separate people, that they might depend on him alone; to destroy characters and reputations that he alone might shine; to make people compromise themselves in public that he alone might be more secure of their service. His meanness was indiscribable.—The Month.

Justice Smith said, on opening his Court at Connorsville, Tenn.: "William Henry Smith is arraigned for assaulting his father." The magistrate had on the previous day knocked his father down with a club, and it was himself that he was now arraigning. He continued: "The evidence is conclusive and I'm not sure but I ought to send myself to jail for ten days. But as this is my first offense, and I certainly had a good deal of provocation, I will simply impose a fine of $10."

An American Secretary of State had two afflictions—an obliging doorkeeper and a persistent office-hunter. Day after day the latter called, and the former was too polite to shut him out. The Secretary, when he could stand the nuisance no longer, said to the doorkeeper: "Do you know what that man comes after?" "An office, I suppose," repliee the functionary. "True; but do you know what office?" "No." "Well, then, I'll tell you—he wants your position." The bore was admitted no more.

An intelligent dog had for a long time been sent every morning to a butcher shop at Logan, Ohio, to buy meat for himself. He always brought a five-cent piece in his mouth and laid it down on the block. One day he deposited a dollar instead, and wagged his tail with unwonted vigor, as though expecting a proportionately larger chunk of meat. An investigation proved that, his master having gone away, he had broken into the money drawer and helped himself to a coin.

Nutmegs grow upon a tree from 25 to 30 feet high, which bears a fruit resembling in form and size the seckel pear. When ripe the outer shell of this fruit breaks, revealing an inner case of bright red, known to commerce as mace. This in its turn is removed, and the nutmeg is found inclosed in a third shell, harder than either of the others.

A Galveston school teacher had a great deal of trouble making a boy understand his lesson. Finally, however, he succeeded, and, drawing a long breath, remarked: "If it wasn't for me, you would be the biggest donkey on Galveston Island."

Josh Billings remarks that if a man is on his way to the woods to commit suicide, and if a bull suddenly gave chase, the chances are that he would run for his life.

Mr. Gotthold was recently whipped in a prize fight near Pittsburg. He got hold of the wrong man.

Talk Over What You Read

Nearly forty years' experience as a teacher has shown how little I know of a subject until I began to explain it or teach it. Let any young person try the experiment in giving in conversation, briefly and connectedly and in the simplest language, the chief points of any article they have read, and they will at once see what I mean.—The gaps that are likely to appear in the knowledge that was felt as complete will no doubt be very surprising. I know of no training superior to this in utilizing one's reading, in strengthening the memory and forming the habits of clear connected statement. It will doubtless teach other things than those I have mentioned, which the persons who honestly make the experiment will find out for themselves. Children who read, can be encouraged to give, in a familiar way, the interesting parts of the books they have read with great advantage to all concerned. More than one youth I know has laid the foundation of intellectual tastes in a New England family, where hearty encouragement was given to children and adults in their attempts to sketch the lectures they had heard that evening. The same thing was done with books.—Christian Union.

The Louisville Commercial, in an article on the Indiana election, says: "The best political work ever done in a political campaign in this region, was that accomplished by the gentlemen who were charged with the duty of picketing the river front of Indiana to guard against the importation of voters from Kentucky. The task so put upon them was to so guard a frontier of 200 miles that no man should cross it with fraudulent intent without being watched and reported to the proper committees in the place where he intended to put in his illegal ballot. The work was most thoroughly and admirably done. On both sides of the river every crossing, public or private; every thoroughfare leading to or from the river, from the Ohio line to that of Illinois, men were constantly on the watch, and the Republican Committee at Indianapolis was furnished with the name and destination of every man crossing who was suspected of an intention to cast an illegal ballot. These names were sent to the proper local committees, with descriptions; the suspected visitors were hunted up and watched, and on the day of election the evidence was all complete to prevent their voting.

The New York Herald says: "It frequently happens that men are compelled to remain awake most of the night with business affairs, and do not wish to go to bed the next day. One of the best and most refreshing breakfasts for such men is composed of very salt raw oysters, with a good glass of white wine and a handful of raisins. The effect is immediate. A famous London physician, after a hard day's work, eats brandied cherries.

Many clergymen in this country have received a circular from a London dealer, who offers second-hand sermons "lithographed in a bold, round hand," so that those who happen to see them will suppose that they are manuscript, for 25 cents each, or $20 a hundred. He has a line of cheaper sermons in print, at 10 a piece, warranted orthodox, and others, a little more expensive, which have "a pleasantness, yet an awful solemnity about them."

This is a nice time of night for you to come in," said a mother to her daughter, who returned from a walk at 10 o'clock.—"When I was like you," continued she, "my mother would not allow me out later than 7 o'clock." "Oh, you had a nice sort of mother," murmured the girl. "I had, you young jade," said the mother, "a nicer mother than ever you had."

A Maine man, who didn't care two shakes of a lamb's tail about newspapers, rode fourteen miles through a fierce snow storm to get a copy of a weekly that spoke of him as a "prominent citizen."

Japanese horseshoes are made of straw mats and so slightly fastened to the animals' feet that the principal streets in the cities are strewn with cast off sandals of the ponies.

It is said that you can make a brilliant scarlet dye of the pestilent potato bugs. This is a new discovery, although it has long been suspected that the bugs would make a good potato die.

Old Betz, a Sioux squaw, who died recently at the reputed age of more than a hundred, had been successively the wife of an army officer, an Indian chief, a border highwayman, and a Methodist missionary.

Mr. Zabriskowatschmyera was a candidate for office in Minnesota. The man who nominated him says it was the greatest effort of his life.

It is said the handsomest women marry the homeliest men, and when a very beautiful woman smiles on a man he should consider how he looks.

Even the most temperate man in Chicago has swine on his table at least twice a week.

Life's but a span—That's the reason probably, that we have so many fast men driving ahead so rapidly.

The last Presidential campaign was the most degrading, as conducted by the Democratic National Committee, the country ever passed through. Nothing was too low for that Committee to resort to to accomplish its ends. Not content with the Garfield-Chinese letter forgery, it is now learned that the Democratic document, signed by General McClellan and other prominent Democrats, in which an appeal was made to the soldiers to vote for Hancock, was a forgery. A prominent Democrat writes that he was not aware of the existence of the document until after its appearance, and the use of his name was unauthorized. It is a Party of forgery and corruption.

The Congress of San Domingo has passed a decree that considering the proofs sufficient that the remains found in the Cathedral on September 10th, 1877, are the remains of Christopher Columbus, a monument to enshrine them shall be erected at the capitol. Sergeant Childers, who was known to fame as "the best drilled man in the world," was recently killed while hunting near Koshkonong, Wis., and was buried with military honors at Janesville, Wis. Childers was the man whom Jim Fisk sent to Europe to drill against any man in the world, backing him with a $10,000 challenge.

It is reported that Governor Cornell, of New York, in his forthcoming annual message, will earnestly second the proposition that ex Presidents should have seats as Senators-at-Large in the United States Senate. Senator Conkling is understood to be unqualifiedly committed to it.

A stranger entered the rooms of the American Board of Foreign Missions in Boston on Tuesday, and saying that he wished to show his thankfulness for the election of Garfield, he counted out $2,000 and walked away.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRESS.

While the Southern press, almost without exception, accept the political situation in a manly manner worthy of commendation, the Democratic press of the North are rampant, and predict all sorts of dire calamities to the country from the workings of the incoming Administration. Unlike the South, they are not willing to wait to see if coming events will warrant the denunciations thus early heaped upon the head of Garfield and the Republican party. Notably of this class is the San Francisco Examiner. Day after day its columns teem with abuse of everything which is not of the Democracy, and pitifully urges the unwashed to organize for the battle of 1884. Routed, horse, foot, and dragoon—supported by a solid South, what inducement is there to live on and hope. Even should the South try to present an unbroken front to the North—an improbable event, the western portion of Texas may give the nine votes of that State to the Republicans in 1884. And New York will have three less and New Jersey one. California gains one, Iowa one; Kansas, three; Minnesota, two; Missouri, one; Nebraska, two. Taking four votes from New Jersey and New York, and adding nine from California, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota and Nebraska, and, probably, three from Washington Territory, will count heavily for the Republicans in 1884. The Examiner wants Texas divided into three States, but doubts if it will be accomplished during a Republican Administration. It says that a majority of the people favor a division, but is oblivious to the fact that the eastern, Democratic, portion is opposed to it, while the western, Republican, favors it. The division would prove another Colorado to the Democracy. But the most absurd proposition of the Examiner is its advising Democrats to withhold all patronage from Republican papers, and bestow it upon Democratic. The Democratic papers would die within sixty days, should Republicans withdraw their advertisements. As to subscription, that paper said that its party was not a reading people, and that Republicans would not take Democratic papers, but Democrats would Republican.

THE UNION.

BRIDGEPORT, NOVEMBER 20, 1880.

The Union office is in Towle's Building, Bridgeport.

Job Printing.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

For Miners and Lawyers.—A seventh edition of that very valuable work, Copp's Hand-Book of Mining Law, will soon be issued. It will contain the State and Territorial mining laws, and instructions how to examine title, in addition to the lists of Government patents, digest of decisions, and other good things in previous editions. Its editor, Henry L. Copp, of Washington, D. C., has an extensive work on the same subject in press. It will give in full the Land Office and Court decisions now in force, and be the authority on United States mining law without doubt. This work should be in the hands of every lawyer and mining man on this coast.

The Molinelli Benefit.—The Bodieites are this evening to have a treat, in the presentation of "The Two Orphans" at Miners' Union Hall by a troupe of Bodie's most talented amateurs, for the benefit of Miss Florence Molinelli, a little lady, and deservedly a favorite with every Bodieite. Miss Florence will appear as Louise, one of the Orphans, and she will act her part equal to old actors. She should have a full house.

Fine Millinery.—Miss Carrie Gill, of Bodie, is now visiting our town to enable the ladies of Bridgeport and vicinity to provide themselves with hats of the latest styles for the Winter season. Those wishing anything in the millinery line should avail themselves of this opportunity to fit themselves out for the season at reasonable prices.

Seal.—It being questionable as to the right of County Clerks to use the seal of the Superior Court for other than Court business, the Supervisors of San Francisco ordered one for ordinary business. We suggest that our Supervisors do likewise.

Gone.—On Thursday last Deputy Sheriff Davis left for San Quentin, having in charge English and Johnson, convicted of burglary and sentenced to two years in the State Prison.

In Order.—Our citizens are preparing for Winter—repairing houses and getting in wood, etc.

Personal.—Judge Wiggin is sojourning at San Francisco, and Judge Briggs is in Bodie, where he will remain until Monday next.

Pot vs. Kettle.—The Free Press and Standard-News fight. More wool and less cry! Come down here and we will plane you and raise smut.

Shut Down.—The Eagle Sawmills have shut down for the Winter, and a large number of men been discharged.

For Arizona.—Some of our people left for Arizona this week, and more are to follow.

Quiet.—Business at the Court House is rather dull.

Wood.—Wood is selling at $5 per cord, delivered.

Cold.—We are having cold weather these days.

Mining Transfers.

The following deeds have been recorded in the County Recorder's office:

Nov. 10.

Wade Hays to L. H. Craft, Oakland mine, Tioga District.

Thos. Finn to W. A. Irwin, ¼ of 375 feet of North Bulwer mine, Bodie D.

Nov. 12.

Patrick Flattery to J. L. Redlingshafer, Evening Star mine, Kieth District. $350.

Robt. A. Cameron to Wm. Brakeman, one-third of Cameron mine, Homer D. $150.

Nov. 15.

...unt Dana to Herbert J. Davis, High ...ock mine, Tioga District.

Fire at Mammoth.—On Sunday morning last, at 10 o'clock, a fire broke out in Rowan's store, Mammoth City, and destroyed thirteen buildings. Loss, $50,000; Insurance, $6,000.

Since his election, Garfield feels the necessity of rest. On the 10th instant, he sent in his resignation as a member of the present Congress, and it is presumed his resignation as U. S. Senator will soon follow. Governor Foster has issued his proclamation for a special election to fill the vacancy.

Alexander H. Stephens says that he will vote to pay the Deputy Marshals and Supervisors, as they have earned their money under the law, and other Democrats take the same view.

The Louisiana Supreme Court has decided, in a will case, that a man who has been temporarily insane from the use of drink may recover his faculties and leave a valid testament.

A treaty with China has been concluded which will prove satisfactory to the Pacific Coast. Another Democratic gun spiked.

BODIE ITEMS.

Help them Out.—The Trustees of the Bodie Water Company have issued an address to the people of Bodie, appealing for pecuniary aid to enable them to pay off the indebtedness of the Company, some $2,000. This appeal should meet with a liberal response on the part of business men and property owners. The insurance companies carrying Bodie risks, and for which they charge unreasonable rates, should be asked for a donation toward the liquidation of this debt, as these works have several times prevented destructive fires and a consequent loss of thousands of dollars to the insurance companies. It has been customary for the Board of Underwriters to make donations to fire companies in all parts of the Union, and it would not be out of order for the Board of Underwriters of San Francisco to donate $500 or $1,000 toward the payment of this debt; as it is really a fire company, the water being used mostly for fire, and street sprinkling, purposes, and is a source of expense, instead of revenue. With the rates of insurance as high as they now are in Bodie, the insurance companies could afford to "carry" the Bodie fire department themselves.

Engineers Elected.—The Bodie firemen held an election for Chief Engineer and two Assistants. It was a tame election, all the candidates having a "walk over."—J. Gunn was elected Chief—receiving 111 votes, the whole number polled. Frank Milburn was elected First Assistant, and C. E. Loose Second Assistant Engineer—each receiving 110 votes. If the property owners of Bodie do the Christian thing by the Bodie Water Company, to enable it to keep the works in good running order for the Winter, the town will be quite safe from fire.

Stable Burned.—The barn of the Stage Company on lower Main street, opposite the Bulwer Mill, caught fire from a sick stovepipe about ten o'clock on Wednesday morning and totally destroyed. It was filled with hay and grain—considerable of the latter being saved. The stage horses in the adjoining stable were given their liberty when the fire occurred, and it was only by the hardest kind of work that the stable was saved. The firemen worked well and are deserving of all praise. The loss was about $1,500.

Thanksgiving Turkeys.—E. F. Gibson, of the Union Fruit and Poultry Market, just above the Bodie Post Office, has a fine stock of fat turkeys, chickens, and wild ducks for Thanksgiving dinners; also fresh cranberries, sweet potatoes, etc. Give him a call, or send in your orders.

Thanksgiving Dinner.—At the Bodie House, Johnson's, on Thursday next, a New England Thanksgiving dinner will be gotten up in the best style. The Can Can will also set a good table.

WATCHES.

Watches, by reason of their frail construction and the variations to which they are liable, can after all only obtain a limited perfection in their performance; therefore, we must not be astonished to find them subject to certain variations. These variations, which are easy to correct, need not prejudice the quality of the watch, as will be proved by the following example. Two watches, we will suppose, have been put to the same time by an excellent regulator. At the end of a month, one of these watches is a quarter of an hour too fast; the other is exactly right to time. To which of these two watches would we give the preference? Perhaps to the one which is exactly right. But in making such a choice, nevertheless incur risk of abandoning a good watch for a bad one. The first watch has, we assume, gained 30 seconds a day; and according to this rate, it has gained a quarter of an hour in 30 days. What must be done to make the watch go well? Alter the regulator inside from fast to slow. Or get a careful watchmaker to do it for you thereby altering its daily rate. Let us now admit that the other watch has been affected during a month by irregular going, which has occasioned it sometimes to gain, at other times to lose to a certain extent daily. It may easily occur that at the end of a month this gaining and losing compensate each other and by this means the watch indicates the exact hour at the time we look at it. Such a watch can never be relied upon. The fact is that a watch which gains in a regular manner or loses in a regular manner is superior to any whose variation is uncertain, and where its variation comes to be familiar, the little companion may vie with the most delicately adjusted ship's chronometer. A skillful watchmaker one day thus reasoned with a customer who complained of his watch. "You complained," said he, "that your watch gains a minute a month. Well, then you will congratulate yourself when you have heard me. You are aware that in your watch, the balance, which is the regulator, makes five oscillations every second, which is 432,000 a day, so that your watch, exposed to all the vicissitudes which heat and cold occasion it, the varying weight of the air, and the shaking to which it is subjected, has not varied more than a minute a month or two seconds a day. It has only acquired with each vibration of the balance a variation of the two hundred and sixteen thousandth part of a second. Judge then what must be the extreme perfection of the machanism of this watch!" A watch cannot go for an indefinite period without being repaired or cleaned. At the expiration of a certain time, the oil dries up, dust accumulates, and wear and tear are the inevitable results to the whole machinery, the functions becoming irregular, and frequently ceasing to act altogether. A person possessing a watch of good quality, and desirous of preserving it as such, should have it cleaned every two years at least. But care should be taken to confide this cleaning or repairing to careful hands; an incapable workman may do great injury to a watch, even of the simplest kind.

The Chicago papers are filled with evidence of the manufacture of vast quantities of oleomargerine in that city, equaling 3,000 pounds per day. A reporter investigated and discovered fifteen butter factories in full operation. The butter made is a compound of various ingredients—soapstone, lard, tallow, and fatty substances. The disgusting business is so profitable that it finds numerous persons who embark in it. In some cases the material used is vile beyond belief, and most unwholesome in others. Although the taste revolts at the ingredients used, they are not necessarily deleterious. Cheese is also adulterated with the same villainous matter, and commission merchants complain that they are much injured by this growing element in the dairy business.

The Electoral Vote.—The official vote of California elects Hon. Henry Edgerton, the Republican Elector, by 507 majority over Terry, the lowest on the Democratic ticket. Of the Democratic Electors, Del Valle has 148 majority; Henley and Brown, each 130 majority; Wallace 88 and Shorb, 87. The highest Republican vote was 80,378 for Edgerton, while the highest Democratic was 80,417. The infamous forgery of Garfield's signature sent broadcast over the country influenced enough weak-minded Republicans to give the State to Hancock by a contemptibly small majority.
